OWNER

MICHAEL ILITCH

On June 22, 1982 the NHL Board of Governors unanimously approved the sale of the Red Wings to businessman Michael Ilitch.

Mike Ilitch, a native Detroiter, has been involved in sports all his life, having owned the Detroit Caesars professional softball team from 1977 to 1979 and winning two championships in 1977 and 1978. An athlete in his own right, Ilitch played all sports at Detroit's Cooley High School where he received All-City honors in 1947. He played baseball in the Marines for four years, and played shortstop in the minors for the Detroit Tigers organizations for three years. Ilitch has sponsored hundreds of sports teams over the years, including hockey, softball, baseball, bowling and soccer, and was instrumental in creating a top-level hockey program at the University of Michigan in Dearborn.

Mr. Ilitch has always been a big supporter of local and national charities, and has contributed generously his time and money to such endeavors as the March of Dimes, Easter Seals, Michigan Heart Association, Metropolitan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Madonna College and the Olympics for the Disabled.

Ilitch's fast-food enterprises, now in its 23rd year, has grown to nearly 300 Little Caesars locations and 11 Wendy's in eight states and in Ontario. He also holds the franchise rights for Chuck-E-Cheeses Restaurants for the states of Michigan, Indiana, Northern Ohio, and in Chicago, Illinois. Ilitch was the first fast-food franchiser in Michigan.

Mike Ilitch and wife, Marian, reside in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan and have seven children, three girls and four boys.

GENERAL MANAGER

JIM DEVELLANO

On July 13, 1982 Wings' new owner Michael Ilitch made his first major move of his brief ownership when he hired Jim Devellano as general manager.

Devellano carries a reputation as an astute judge of hockey talent, and brings impressive credentials to Detroit. He began his NHL career as scout with the then-expansion St. Louis Blues in 1967. Through the help of his scouting, the Blues prospered and reached the Stanley Cup final in each of their first three seasons.

When the New York Islanders joined the NHL in 1972, general manager Bill Torrey hired Devellano as scout. In 1974 (through 1980) Jim was the Islanders' head scout, and was responsible for finding many of the players who helped the club become the first American-based team to win three consecutive Stanley Cups.

Prior to the 1979-80 season, Devellano was assigned the dual role of head scout for the Islanders and general manager for their CHL affiliate, Indianapolis Checkers. His hard work paid off, and Jim was selected as the 79-80 Minor-League-Executive-of-the-Year by the Hockey News.

Last season, the Islanders appointed Devellano as assistant general manager under Bill Torrey.

Having worked for two expansion teams, Jim Devellano knows the Wings' climb to the top is a long one. He is excited about the challenge, and confident that Mike Ilitch, and the fans of Detroit will be rewarded for their support and patience.

ASST. GENERAL MANAGER AND HEAD COACH

NICK POLANO

Wings' owner Mike Ilitch and GM Jim Devellano announced the signing of 41-year-old Nick Polano as the assistant general manager and head coach on August 4, 1982.

Last season Polano was assistant coach under Scotty Bowman with the Buffalo Sabres; and for five years prior, coached the Erie Blades of the EHL. Three of those five years with Erie, Nick held the dual role of general manager and coach, and each year his team won the EHL regular-season and playoff championships. Polano was EHL Coach of the Year twice; and in 1981, the Hockey News selected him as the Minor-League-Executive-of-the-Year.

Prior to coaching, Nick spent 15 years as a defenseman with various AHL teams including Baltimore, Hershey and Providence; as well as a brief stay with Philadelphia Blazers of the old World Hockey League.

"Nick has been a proven winner in the minors. He was a hard-nosed player and he's a motivator." Stated Devellano. "His one-year apprenticeship under Scotty Bowman has helped Nick develop into a top-notch NHL coach and administrator."
